GAMF Faculty of Engineering and Computer Science

GAMF FECS is the educational centre of engineering and computer science in the Southern Plain Region of Hungary. Future-to-be engineers can prepare for their career here where wide industrial range is involved. The economy and management training in the field of economic science became popular already at the very start.

BSc course

- Mechanical Engineering
- Vehicle Engineering
- Logistical Engineering
- Computer Science Engineering
- Technical Management

Students of any major can take part in dual training system with large, medium or small companies and banks. The faculty has got popular accredited vocational training courses and postgraduate training programmes in the field of mechanical engineering.

Unique features

The vehicle constructing teams of the Faculty are famous world-wide due to their achievements in different categories of energy-saving vehicles.